The New-York Daily Times.

VOL. V.—NO. 1[illegible]. NEW-YORK, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1856. PRICE TWO CENTS.

THE NEW GOVERNORS AND COMMISSIONERS OF IMMIGRATION.

AND SO FORTH.

Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times.

ALBANY, Saturday, Feb. 2.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE IN THE ASSEMBLY.

The Report on Joint Rules was first taken up by the House and adopted, with the new rule, reported by the Committee, requiring all Canal claims to be referred to the Canal Board, outdoors one.

[illegible]

Canal. The aggregate cost of the repairs of these sections for the last year (which was under a diminished expenditure from the previous year of $[illegible],730) was $[illegible],776 64. Comparing the savings already made on these sections under contract, with previous years when the State performed the work, the remaining sections could be let by contract at an annual saving to the State of $[illegible].

[illegible] Assembly resumed its session, Mr. [illegible] presiding. [illegible] Bill, which passed the Senate with the new rule, was the order of the day. Mr. [illegible] moved to strike out the enacting clause, and spoke against the bill. He argued that the Canal Board was a body [illegible] of Canal claims, quite as fair as the Legislature. He argued against the bill, because it was [illegible] to the Canal Board, which could not be prevented.

Mr. Rowan responded forcibly on the bill demanding the various laws relative to the collection of claims.

[illegible] Mr. Brown, from the Committee on Canal Affairs, reported back a bill to allow the Superintendent of Public Works to employ any laborers he may deem necessary, provided they give security for costs [illegible] Mr. Brown said the bill was reported by the Canal Board [illegible] to pay the costs of contractors for the year of forty months, on terms, [illegible] Mr. Brown said the bill was reported by the Canal Board [illegible] Mr. Brown said the bill was reported by the Canal Board [illegible] Mr. Brown said the bill was reported by the Canal Board

WAR

Opinions of the Press on the Prospects of Peace.

From the London Times, Jan. 16.

Over the scenes of warlike preparation lies yesterday resounding from one end of this laborious island to the other has fallen a sudden lull, and the hammer of the armorer is uplifted, and the hand of the ship carpenter is stayed, while they listen with wonder and surprise to the unexpected tidings of peace. We have become indurated to a state of war, and it seems now almost as impossible for England to fall back into the old pacific routine of the last forty years as it appeared two years ago for her to shake off the peaceful habits and associations of those forty years had created.

We suspect, be perfectly true to say that the sudden hath the prospects so suddenly observed of a return to peace with unmixed and unalloyed satisfaction.

No one is so inhuman as to argue for war in the abstract, but there are a great many, we suspect, who think that its continuance for another year would have more of good than of evil. Our preparations are so vast, our army and navy are assuming so much more promising an aspect than before, and the power of Russia is so visibly reduced and shaken, that we might reasonably hope at the end of another campaign not only to dictate terms much more favorable, but to have for them the best of all possible guarantees—the utter extinction and prostration of our adversary. In such cases, however, it is wise to propitiate that Nemesis which is so apt to wait on those whose overweening expectations of future good fortune render them blind to the opportunities of the present, and to close our hand upon that certain success which is within its grasp, rather than open it to snatch at some fortune more alluring, but also more doubtful and dangerous. To be delivered from the continually recurring catalogues of slaughter, from the rapid increase of our national debt, from the prospect of a 10 per cent. income-tax, and a constant derangement of our monetary system; to curb effectually the insolence and aggression of a Power which two years ago would only condescend to answer our earnest remonstrances by a haughty and expressive silence, treating them, to use the metaphor of the Empress CATHERINE, "as the moon does the wolves that bay at her"—these are advantages so solid and substantial that we would not change them for the most brilliant future that ever allured and deluded the visionary or the enthusiast. Let us only be sure that we have got what we ask for, and we shall tear with much philosophy the loss of all the fine things that another year of war might bring us.

We would, however, caution the public against the persuasion that the telegraphic messages of our correspondents at Vienna and Berlin, and that posted by the French Government on the Paris Bourse, necessarily imply what their words certainly taken in their literal sense, would fairly comprehend—that all the propositions upon which the allies insist have been unconditionally accepted by Russia. The terms of the fifth proposition are general, and do not necessarily include the undertaking not to fortify the Aland Isles, any more than any other demand the allies might think fit to make. We do not believe that this requisition has yet been specifically submitted to Russia, and, whatever may be the probabilities of the case, we are certainly not justified in saying that she has unconditionally accepted it.

Two other terms on which we must peremptorily insist—the disarming of the eastern coast of the Black Sea, and the allowing Consuls of the Western Powers to reside in the Russian ports on it waters—have been only slightly and ambiguously mentioned. Why this is so we do not know. That is the concern of Austria. We are not principals in the negotiation, but have employed the mediation of a third Power, whose duty it is to see that Russia be brought to an unconditional acceptance of our terms, with all their stipulations, before we even enter into negotiation. We do not believe for a moment that these things are likely to offer permanent obstacles to the conclusion of peace, but our readers must remember that the announcement is that of an Austrian, not of an English diplomatist, and that he speaks from a point of view not always identical with our own.

Again, what does Russia mean by an unconditional acceptance? We have held an acceptance of here before, and have some experience how coolly she can dishonor it. Other dispatches from Vienna speak of the terms being accepted as the bases of negotiation. Logically, there is no distinction between the two, for the foundations on which a negotiation rests must be accepted unconditionally, or they are no foundations at all. We mistrust the expression, and then with which we begin, lest it be intentional; but we have seen too much of the Russian character, to think these things, where we remember that last year she undertook to do away with the proposition to close the Black Sea, and could so far forget herself as to make a second attempt at carrying out this condition which had been already so decisively rejected. We do not believe, however, that any of these difficulties will really be allowed to interfere with that peace which the Court of St. Petersburg should be fain to have concluded by necessity, if it be therefore, but which the Czar and his ministers will be the last to desire, and which the country who pays the bill will be the last to grant, and that anything sooner than that to ring their bells, light their bonfires, and pay the bill.

[illegible]

[illegible]

Opinions of the British Press on the President's Message.

From the London Times, Jan. 15.

The American President, with a laudable desire to cut short a long debate in the House of Representatives, has not waited for the election of a Speaker, but presented his annual Message at once to the Congress. A portion of the American press had long been busy in dictating what the Message ought to be,—that it ought to throw down a challenge to England on every point of existing or possible differences, and that it ought to do so in a manner which admitted of no adjustment. As far as England is concerned, therefore, we must admit the good sense displayed by the President in promulgating his Message without leaving the ground to be preoccupied in the Congress itself by a mass of adverse criticism. The document, like many of its predecessors, shows the vast difference between the play of diplomacy and a national act. The former, in the New as well as the Old World, is often little better than a game of bluff, unworthy of statesmen and of civilized nations, the latter is generally more in accordance with those solemn responsibilities which rulers cannot but feel, however brief their tenure of power. President Pierce is certainly no more inclined to plunge the Union into war for any trifle than we are. Of course, we are well aware that it may be driven to war, even on a point little appreciated or understood by the people at large; and America is equally aware that we also are apt to forget the mercantile or political insignificance of an object when our honor is concerned. There can only be mutual respect between two such nations as the British Empire and the United States of America. But we believe and trust that the statesmen of both countries will leave nothing undone to arrange differences without a sacrifice of honor on either side. Here there certainly is not the faintest thought of a wish to extract honor out of America, to gain a silly chuckle at her expense, and, to think ourselves at all the better because we think her the worse. There is no such feeling in this country. Indeed, we are quite sure that, even if we had gained an imaginary triumph over our Transatlantic cousins, it would entail its own punishment in the shame we should soon all feel at the folly of the transaction, and the unnatural character of the wrong we had inflicted.

We believe that, on the whole, notwithstanding the frantic attempts of a few American authorities generally respectable importations from this country to blow every spark into a flame, and to disgrace England, with an utterness honor in the Union Government, the great majority of the intelligent classes of that country are not so depraved. In the Message before us the President shows a desire to be moderate; for, notwithstanding the strong language he has unwisely, on this occasion, thought fit to use, he does not, in the end, decide it in favor of the United States, at least, in the construction put upon the Message by a journal which is usually taken for the true policy of the Union. It may or may not prove a successful speculation. The Times, in that part of the world, the great probability is that the cause of the States will triumph, and that of this country disgrace. There is, we believe, not one in this country who knows the Union and its institutions, who has lived in the Union, or who has any other means of judging in fair detail, who does not believe that the United States are capable of doing, in fair fighting, what they undertake to do. We do not, therefore, fear the result of a war between the two countries, if it be forced upon us. We do not believe that the Union, with its vast resources, its boundless territory, its unexhausted energies, and its unbroken spirit, can be conquered by any power, or even by the combined power of Europe. We do not believe that the Union, with its institutions, its population of the States will be found, in the end, to be less than the equal of any three European Powers. We do not believe that the United States, with its millions, half of them either [illegible] slaves, and the rest [illegible] will not be their fault if it is.

[illegible]

The Rise in Consols.

From the Daily News, Jan. 17, P. M.

The various Stock Exchange markets this morning opened quietly, but soon became extremely agitated, in consequence of the publication of intelligence that Russia has accepted unconditionally the propositions for peace submitted by Austria. Very lately has no instance a sensation been observable throughout the City. Within a few minutes after this news had reached the precincts of the Stock Exchange, the prices of the English funds had sprung up 2½ per cent., many railway stocks 3 per cent., and Turkish Six Per Cents. 4 or 5 per cent., as compared with the latest official quotations of yesterday. Many of the dealers being at first indisposed to transact business, pending the confirmation of the intelligence, panic-stricken operators for a fall were heavily mulcted in the shape of wide "margins," on attempting to buy back. Under the pressure of this demand, Consols attained an extreme advance of nearly 3½ per cent. At this point a reaction set in, the recollection of the instability of Russian policy, as exhibited on former occasions, tending to modify the first hastily adopted opinion that peace must necessarily follow.

Under this influence it was felt that Russia may have some covert reason for wishing, in exchange, to open the door to serious negotiation for the realisations of stock were prompted. Notwithstanding an extraordinary rise at Paris, the reaction from the highest point was upwards of ¾ per cent. Still the 4 o'clock quotations were nearly 2½ per cent above those of yesterday, the fact of the ostensible acceptance of the terms by Russia being corroborated both by dispatches from Paris and by our Government. After the recognised hours sellers rather preponderated, and a reduction of about ¼ per cent. was quoted. It is scarcely necessary to observe that the market at the close, as throughout the day, was extremely unsettled and sensitive.

Rise in the Funds—Peace.

From the Morning Advertiser, Jan. 17—P. M.

The sensation created in the third edition of the Morning Post, concerning the overtures made by Austria to the Russian Government for the establishment of peace, caused a very high degree of excitement in the monied and commercial circles. It was stated in the second impression of another journal that the terms proposed had received the unconditional acceptance of the Russian Cabinet—a statement that was viewed by intelligent parties as one of extremely doubtful authenticity, although declared to be otherwise. That the Russian Government should have accepted the propositions of Austria in the way stated, we round it is confirmed, have been to certainly the proceeding in connection with the war to an extent wholly incompatible with its general course of policy.

No doubt there is a willingness on the part of the Russian authorities to entertain open renewed negotiations with the Allied Powers, but this may be to gain time, and without any sincere intention of yielding the concessions demanded; so that, on the whole, the great rise which Saturday place within the last few days was based on a premature and the result of very reasonable calculations. Consols, after opening this morning at 87¾, advanced to 90¾, then receded to 89¾, but recovered on the issue of the third edition of the Morning Post, and were last officially quoted 90¾ to ⅞; the highest value realized was 90¾, and this was but a shade below the after hours' quotation, which was about 90¾. A rise of 5 per cent. in two days is something very unusual in this market, and it must probably have been promoted in a considerable degree by the prevailing desire for peace, and the results, therefore, to believe that it is at length near at hand. Reduced 3 per cents. were 90 to ⅞; India Stock, 216 to 18; Exchequer Bills, 5s. to 1s. dis. The Bear operators were thought to have been in a great measure panic-stricken by the pacific interpretation put upon the news communicated to the public through the medium of this journal.

Opinions of the British Press on the President's Message.

From the London Times, Jan. 15.

The American President, with a laudable desire to cut short a long debate in the House of Representatives, has not waited for the election of a Speaker, but presented his annual Message at once to the Congress. A portion of the American press had long been busy in dictating what the Message ought to be,—that it ought to throw down a challenge to England on every point of existing or possible differences, and that it ought to do so in a manner which admitted of no adjustment. As far as England is concerned, therefore, we must admit the good sense displayed by the President in promulgating his Message without leaving the ground to be preoccupied in the Congress itself by a mass of adverse criticism. The document, like many of its predecessors, shows the vast difference between the play of diplomacy and a national act. The former, in the New as well as the Old World, is often little better than a game of bluff, unworthy of statesmen and of civilized nations, the latter is generally more in accordance with those solemn responsibilities which rulers cannot but feel, however brief their tenure of power. President Pierce is certainly no more inclined to plunge the Union into war for any trifle than we are. Of course, we are well aware that it may be driven to war, even on a point little appreciated or understood by the people at large; and America is equally aware that we also are apt to forget the mercantile or political insignificance of an object when our honor is concerned. There can only be mutual respect between two such nations as the British Empire and the United States of America. But we believe and trust that the statesmen of both countries will leave nothing undone to arrange differences without a sacrifice of honor on either side. Here there certainly is not the faintest thought of a wish to extract honor out of America, to gain a silly chuckle at her expense, and, to think ourselves at all the better because we think her the worse. There is no such feeling in this country. Indeed, we are quite sure that, even if we had gained an imaginary triumph over our Transatlantic cousins, it would entail its own punishment in the shame we should soon all feel at the folly of the transaction, and the unnatural character of the wrong we had inflicted.

We believe that, on the whole, notwithstanding the frantic attempts of a few American authorities generally respectable importations from this country to blow every spark into a flame, and to disgrace England, with an utterness honor in the Union Government, the great majority of the intelligent classes of that country are not so depraved. In the Message before us the President shows a desire to be moderate; for, notwithstanding the strong language he has unwisely, on this occasion, thought fit to use, he does not, in the end, decide it in favor of the United States, at least, in the construction put upon the Message by a journal which usually takes the true policy of the Union. It may or may not prove a successful speculation. The Times, in that part of the world, the great probability is that the cause of the States will triumph, and that of this country disgrace. There is, we believe, not one in this country who knows the Union and its institutions, who has lived in the Union, or who has any other means of judging in fair detail, who does not believe that the United States are capable of doing, in fair fighting, what they undertake to do. We do not, therefore, fear the result of a war between the two countries, if it be forced upon us. We do not believe that the Union, with its vast resources, its boundless territory, its unexhausted energies, and its unbroken spirit, can be conquered by any power, or even by the combined power of Europe. We do not believe that the Union, with its institutions, its population of the States will be found, in the end, to be less than the equal of any three European Powers. We do not believe that the United States, with its millions, half of them either [illegible] slaves, and the rest [illegible] will not be their fault if it is.

[illegible]

The Rise in Consols.

From the Daily News, Jan. 17, P. M.

The various Stock Exchange markets this morning opened quietly, but soon became extremely agitated, in consequence of the publication of intelligence that Russia has accepted unconditionally the propositions for peace submitted by Austria. Very lately has no instance a sensation been observable throughout the City. Within a few minutes after this news had reached the precincts of the Stock Exchange, the prices of the English funds had sprung up 2½ per cent., many railway stocks 3 per cent., and Turkish Six Per Cents. 4 or 5 per cent., as compared with the latest official quotations of yesterday. Many of the dealers being at first indisposed to transact business, pending the confirmation of the intelligence, panic-stricken operators for a fall were heavily mulcted in the shape of wide "margins," on attempting to buy back. Under the pressure of this demand, Consols attained an extreme advance of nearly 3½ per cent. At this point a reaction set in, the recollection of the instability of Russian policy, as exhibited on former occasions, tending to modify the first hastily adopted opinion that peace must necessarily follow.

Under this influence it was felt that Russia may have some covert reason for wishing, in exchange, to open the door to serious negotiation for the realisations of stock were prompted. Notwithstanding an extraordinary rise at Paris, the reaction from the highest point was upwards of ¾ per cent. Still the 4 o'clock quotations were nearly 2½ per cent above those of yesterday, the fact of the ostensible acceptance of the terms by Russia being corroborated both by dispatches from Paris and by our Government. After the recognised hours sellers rather preponderated, and a reduction of about ¼ per cent. was quoted. It is scarcely necessary to observe that the market at the close, as throughout the day, was extremely unsettled and sensitive.

Rise in the Funds—Peace.

From the Morning Advertiser, Jan. 17—P. M.

The sensation created in the third edition of the Morning Post, concerning the overtures made by Austria to the Russian Government for the establishment of peace, caused a very high degree of excitement in the monied and commercial circles. It was stated in the second impression of another journal that the terms proposed had received the unconditional acceptance of the Russian Cabinet—a statement that was viewed by intelligent parties as one of extremely doubtful authenticity, although declared to be otherwise. That the Russian Government should have accepted the propositions of Austria in the way stated, we round it is confirmed, have been to certainly the proceeding in connection with the war to an extent wholly incompatible with its general course of policy.

No doubt there is a willingness on the part of the Russian authorities to entertain open renewed negotiations with the Allied Powers, but this may be to gain time, and without any sincere intention of yielding the concessions demanded; so that, on the whole, the great rise which Saturday place within the last few days was based on a premature and the result of very reasonable calculations. Consols, after opening this morning at 87¾, advanced to 90¾, then receded to 89¾, but recovered on the issue of the third edition of the Morning Post, and were last officially quoted 90¾ to ⅞; the highest value realized was 90¾, and this was but a shade below the after hours' quotation, which was about 90¾. A rise of 5 per cent. in two days is something very unusual in this market, and it must probably have been promoted in a considerable degree by the prevailing desire for peace, and the results, therefore, to believe that it is at length near at hand. Reduced 3 per cents. were 90 to ⅞; India Stock, 216 to 18; Exchequer Bills, 5s. to 1s. dis. The Bear operators were thought to have been in a great measure panic-stricken by the pacific interpretation put upon the news communicated to the public through the medium of this journal.

Opinions of the British Press on the President's Message.

From the London Times, Jan. 15.

The American President, with a laudable desire to cut short a long debate in the House of Representatives, has not waited for the election of a Speaker, but presented his annual Message at once to the Congress. A portion of the American press had long been busy in dictating what the Message ought to be,—that it ought to throw down a challenge to England on every point of existing or possible differences, and that it ought to do so in a manner which admitted of no adjustment. As far as England is concerned, therefore, we must admit the good sense displayed by the President in promulgating his Message without leaving the ground to be preoccupied in the Congress itself by a mass of adverse criticism. The document, like many of its predecessors, shows the vast difference between the play of diplomacy and a national act. The former, in the New as well as the Old World, is often little better than a game of bluff, unworthy of statesmen and of civilized nations, the latter is generally more in accordance with those solemn responsibilities which rulers cannot but feel, however brief their tenure of power. President Pierce is certainly no more inclined to plunge the Union into war for any trifle than we are. Of course, we are well aware that it may be driven to war, even on a point little appreciated or understood by the people at large; and America is equally aware that we also are apt to forget the mercantile or political insignificance of an object when our honor is concerned. There can only be mutual respect between two such nations as the British Empire and the United States of America. But we believe and trust that the statesmen of both countries will leave nothing undone to arrange differences without a sacrifice of honor on either side. Here there certainly is not the faintest thought of a wish to extract honor out of America, to gain a silly chuckle at her expense, and, to think ourselves at all the better because we think her the worse. There is no such feeling in this country. Indeed, we are quite sure that, even if we had gained an imaginary triumph over our Transatlantic cousins, it would entail its own punishment in the shame we should soon all feel at the folly of the transaction, and the unnatural character of the wrong we had inflicted.

We believe that, on the whole, notwithstanding the frantic attempts of a few American authorities generally respectable importations from this country to blow every spark into a flame, and to disgrace England, with an utterness honor in the Union Government, the great majority of the intelligent classes of that country are not so depraved. In the Message before us the President shows a desire to be moderate; for, notwithstanding the strong language he has unwisely, on this occasion, thought fit to use, he does not, in the end, decide it in favor of the United States, at least, in the construction put upon the Message by a journal which usually takes the true policy of the Union. It may or may not prove a successful speculation. The Times, in that part of the world, the great probability is that the cause of the States will triumph, and that of this country disgrace. There is, we believe, not one in this country who knows the Union and its institutions, who has lived in the Union, or who has any other means of judging in fair detail, who does not believe that the United States are capable of doing, in fair fighting, what they undertake to do. We do not, therefore, fear the result of a war between the two countries, if it be forced upon us. We do not believe that the Union, with its vast resources, its boundless territory, its unexhausted energies, and its unbroken spirit, can be conquered by any power, or even by the combined power of Europe. We do not believe that the Union, with its institutions, its population of the States will be found, in the end, to be less than the equal of any three European Powers. We do not believe that the United States, with its millions, half of them either [illegible] slaves, and the rest [illegible] will not be their fault if it is.

[illegible]

[illegible] Alabama, Bocock of Va., Bonham of S. C., Bowie of Md., Boyce of S. C., Branch of Ga., Brown of Va., Bryan of Ga., Burnett of Ky., Burnett of Va., Caskie of Va., Chastain of Ala., Cobb of Ala., Cobb of Ga., Cockerill of Mo., Cox of Md., Crawford of Ga., Crenshaw of Va., Cullen of Del., Davis of Ind., Davis of Miss., Davis of Md., Dawes of Va., Dowdell of Ala., Edmundson of Va., Elliott of Ky., Faulkner of Va., Florence of Pa., Foster of Ala., Gaines of Va., Garnett of Va., Gartrell of Ga., Gilmer of Va., Goode of Va., Greenwood of Ark., Hall of Iowa, Harris of Ala., Harris of Md., Harrison of Ga., Houston of Ala., Jewett of Ky., Jones of Tenn., Jones of Va., Kunkel of Md., Lamar of Ga., Lamar of Miss., Leach of Mich., Leiter of Va., Letcher of Va., Lumpkin of Ga., Marshall of Ill., Maxwell of Fla., Montgomery of Va., McQueen of S. C., Miller of Ind., Millson of Va., Oliver of Mo., Orr of S. C., Peck of Miss., Phelps of Mo., Powell of Ky., Quitman of Miss., Ruffin of N. C., Ruffin of Ark., Sandidge of La., Savage of Tenn., Shorter of Ala., Smith of Tenn., Smith of Va., Stephens of Ga., Stewart of Md., Talbott of Ky., Vail of N. J., Warner of Ga., Watkins of Tenn., Wells of Wis., Wheeler of N. Y., Williams of N. Y., Winslow of N. C., Wright of Miss., Wright of Tenn.—

AMERICANS—Campbell of Ky., Carlisle of Va., Cox of Ky., Etheridge of Tenn., Fustis of Ala., Foster of Ga., Harris of Md., Hoffman of Md., Kennett of Mo., Lake of Miss., Lindley of Mo., Marshall, A. K. of Ky., Marshall, H. of Ky., Paine of N. C., Porter of Mo., Puryear of N. C., Reade of N. C., Reedy of Tenn., Sleaud of Md., Rivers of Tenn., Smith of Ala., Steed of Tenn., Swope of Ky., Tripp of Ga., Underwood of Ky., Walker of Ala., Zollicoffer of Tenn.

FOR MR. FULLER.

Brown of Pa., Clark of N. Y., Cullen of Del., Davis of Md., Millward of Pa., Whitney of N. Y.

FOR MR. CAMPBELL.

Dunn of Ind., Moore of Ohio, Harrison of Ohio, Scott of Ind.

FOR MR. WELLS.

Hickman of Pa.

ABSENTEES.

Barclay of Pa., Bayly of Va., Craige of N. C., Miller of Mo., Richardson of Ill., Seward of Ga., Taylor of La., Childs of N. Y., Edwards of N. Y., Emrie of Ohio, Horton of Ohio, Hughston of N. Y., Haven of N. Y., Packer of Pa., Wakeman of N. Y., Valk of N. Y.

FOR VOTING.

Aiken of S. C., Banks of Mass., Fuller of Pa.

The Speakership—A Few General Reflections.

When Mr. BANKS very eloquently returned thanks for his election to the Speakership, we must presume the grateful impulse was not wholly undiscriminating in its character. Towards the hundred men, of whom through this long contest he has been the faithful centurion, we can readily conceive that his emotions may have been of the most intense description. Toward the Administration Party—that septuagint, or seventy interpreters of presidential will, who have so pertinaciously withstood his election, we may suppose him to exercise various Christian virtues, of which charity may not be the least. A certain degree of respect may also mark his regard of the South American thirty, who have never vacillated or trimmed in their opposition. They have been cordial enemies, which are the next best things to cordial friends. But for the miserable handfull known as "scattering," who have baffled and postponed the result, while steadily avowing a preference for any other Northern man, and who ended the long imposture by voting on the decisive cast against the only possible Northern candidate, and for a Pro-Slavery candidate of the most decided stripe, we are at a loss to determine the atomic symbol to express the infinitely minute share of this acclamation of thanks due to their peculiar merits. As far, indeed, as they are concerned, the Speaker may be fairly suspected of a little good-natured duplicity.

Mr. BANKS is, in truth, indebted to none but his own adhesive friends for the result. Had the possibility been clearly apprehended by his opponents that Mr. AIKEN would fail to concentrate the number requisite to defeat him, there is no reason to believe the plurality rule would have been adopted as it was on Saturday. They seemed infatuated with the idea, that when the question should be distinctly presented between Messrs. A. and B., the middle men—the VALKS and WHEELERS, the DUNNS and the WRIGHTS—could be safely counted upon for Mr. A., the South Carolinian. So firm was this erroneous conviction that the perilous venture was made; the stake set upon it and lost. Upon what principle, therefore, Mr. BANKS can be expected to entertain heartfelt thankfulness to any last the steadfast band about him; or to frame his Committees with reference to other views than theirs—the public service being first consulted—we are puzzled to understand. Unquestionably, the Committee upon Territories should be of a very decided character.

There is another fact in this matter not without significance. The contest thus closed has, in its latter days, been between a member from Massachusetts and a member from South Carolina—States, by common consent, regarded as exponents of either extreme of Slavery agitation. There has been a sort of demi-civil war smouldering between the two this score of years back, exhibiting itself in hostile legislation, hostile resolutions, intense antagonism and dislike, whether displayed in Washington, or Boston, or Charleston. It flamed out fiercely in the duel oratorical between General HAYNE and Mr. WEBSTER. The case of Mr. HOAR gave it emphatic expression, directly and indirectly. This fresh encounter in the strife, for the Speakership, has once more resulted disastrously for the Southern combatant. Mr. BANKS, a fair representative of the rational Anti-Slavery sentiment of Massachusetts, has not only unhorsed Mr. ORR, a moderate type of South Carolinian chivalry, but followed up the victory by an equally successful tilt against Sir AIKEN, an extreme champion of South Carolina and Calhounism, and, moreover, by repute, the most extensive slaveholder in the Southern States. If we hear of illuminations, bon-fires, minute-guns and general gratulations in Boston, we can comprehend the reason. It is a new triumph in an old feud.

Still another reflection presents itself in connection with the event. The triumphant party has been the only one that has failed throughout the fight to desert a principle, or alter its ground. Mr. RICHARDSON endeavored to keep his footing on the Democratic Pro-Slavery platform; but fell after a protracted struggle. His orthodoxy came short of the mark. Mr. ORR, who succeeded him, accepted the platform literally; and failing, induced the Administration party to abandon the platform altogether; and, by supporting Mr. AIKEN, sustain a candidate committed to nothing but the one Southern interest: thus it was dooomed the adherent of FULLER, who repudiated the Democratic standards, could be brought to act in concert without inconsistency. It was in the prosecution of this treason to party principles that the friends of the administration were at last defeated. Mr. FULLER commenced a moderate Anti-Slavery man, and gravitated steadily towards the opposite pole, until the ardent o his memory disguised all traces. Unlike [illegible] in the majority relations, [illegible] Pa.

[illegible] has pursued the inside track. It is a position beyond the reach of any human [illegible] permutation to ascertain through what impossible, absurd, mischievous changes of position they have not passed. The credit of immovable, coherent, manly assertion of principle, and devotion to right, irrespective of success or applause, belongs alone to the vitterists party, and adds immeasurably to the splendor of the result.

The Arabia's News.

The steamship Arabia arrived at Boston on Saturday morning, and her mails reached this City at a late hour the same evening. We publish elsewhere numerous extracts from our European files on the important news received in relation to the prospects of an early peace. It seems that three different telegraphic dispatches announced the readiness of Russia to negotiate. One to the London Times from Vienna stated positively that the Czar had unconditionally accepted the propositions of the Allies. This was corrected by another, which appeared in the London Post as a dispatch from Sir HAMILTON SEYMOUR, asserting that the Russian Government had accepted the Austrian proposals, as a basis for negotiation. And, lastly, we have a French official dispatch from Vienna, stating that Count ESTERHAZY had written from St. Petersburg that Count NESSELRODE had notified to him the acceptation, "pure and simple," of the propositions contained in the ultimatum. It may here be as well to recapitulate what these propositions are. They are in substance as follows: 1. Complete abolition of the Russian Protectorate over the Principalities, and a rectification of the Russian frontier with European Turkey; 2. Surrender of the Danube mouth to a Syndicate representing the European Governments; 3. Neutralization of the Black Sea, by closing it against all armed ships, but opening it to all merchant ships—naval arsenals to be neither constructed or maintained; and, 4. New securities and guarantees for the religious and political rights of the Christian subjects of the Porte, to be granted by the Sultan, after deliberation with Austria, France and Great Britain. Notwithstanding these stringent and even humiliating conditions imposed by the Allies upon Russia, it is asserted that she is willing to accept them. It may be, as is alleged, that her financial resources are so far exhausted that peace is necessary; or, perhaps, that the "urgent remonstrances" of Prussia have been of some avail. It may also be that the present move by Russia, viz.: her acceptance of the Austrian proposals as a basis for negotiations, is but a blind to conceal from the eyes of France and England her ulterior designs; for it must not be forgotten that in very nearly the same manner she accepted a year ago "the four points" as a basis of negotiations, without any other object than the one of gaining time. The future will show; at present there is but little ground to form an opinion pro or con.

Among the extracts from our London files the reader will find several articles on the President's Message, which will attract attention as illustrating the views of the British people on that document.

The Kansas Goliah.

There are indications on all sides that the civil contest in Kansas is about to be reopened. Our local correspondence sets forth the preliminary skirmishes; while every Southern journal that reaches this office abounds with exhortations to arms, and intimations that the Spring campaign is to open with a vast invasion of the fated territory, and close with the expulsion of all the Free-State men. The name of DAVID R. ATCHISON figures as the commander elect of this rabble army; exhortatory, imprecatory, inflammatory epistles and circular letters, with that respectable appellation at the foot, frequent all the prints which come from the Gulf States, stimulating the worst passions, and courting the aid of the meanest and vilest of Southern population, in this warfare upon an unoffending settlement. Here, where we have become accustomed to regard that person with the contempt and aversion due to all the exhibitions of himself he has made throughout a tolerably long public career, we are quite apt to under-estimate the influence elsewhere of such incendiary documents as these emanating from his hand. At the South, at least among that unintelligent body of people, who, while neither masters nor slaves, serve the institution with very especial vigor and boisterousness, ATCHISON is ranked very little below the hierarchy of martyrs and benefactors of the human race. Did he not stake his political fortunes upon the abrogation of the compromise, and the introduction of Slavery into those Territories? Has he not resigned the presidency of the United States Senate, in order to devote himself unselfishly to the cause? From the same praiseworthy motive has he not declined renomination to that body, and the proferred position of Governor of Missouri? Has he not sacrificed citizenship of his own State and expatriated himself; leaving, in fact, public honors, home, country, and family behind him, and all to insure Kansas to Slavery? These considerations admit at the South of none of the deductions which a reflecting man outside of the institution and its influence cannot avoid making. The reckless, dram-drinking pettifogger of the Abolition print, is the hero of the slaveholder, the Godfrey of a new crusade, the redeemer of a virgin territory from the low, brutalizing, blighting influence of Freedom and free labor. Hence the efficacy of these appeals. Hence the eagerness with which they are circulated, and read, and their invocations acted upon in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, and Missouri, and more or less in other Slave States, until the notes of excitement and preparation resound from all sides. Openly, the people are called to arms; openly, the object of the call is announced to be a war of extermination upon a peaceful community—openly, too, we find the measures resented without a word of remonstrance, by the organs of the Federal Administration at Washington.

Here, in New-York City, there is no [illegible] hold to bail, and demanded for a [illegible] charge of complicity in fitting out a war upon a friendly people. We have seen these ten years, every energy of the Federal authorities repeatedly employed in preventing a hostile invasion of Cuba. When a mob of negroes and others not long ago offered armed resistance to the armed recapture of a runaway slave in Pennsylvania, the Federal Government directed the offenders to be indicted for treason, that is, for levying war upon the Government of the land. When AARON BURR projected an invasion and conquest of Mexico, he was tried upon a charge of treason in levying war upon an allied nation, and not acquitted for any deficiency of evidence. Or, to descend to the lowest offices of law, to the first principle of peace-keeping legislation, when one citizen threatens to attack the person of another, the law at once interposes and binds the turbulent character "over to keep the peace."

In Missouri there is a man, dignified, like Col. BURR, with the honors of Vice-Presidency, whose sole, avowed object in life is treason and the levying of war. Nor is the war to be made against foreign States, nor the blood to be spilled that of people with whom we have no sympathy of race or friendship. Nor is the purpose veiled in the slightest degree; nor is the mode of warfare mitigated in the programme by one characteristic of Christianity or mercy. To convict of treason requires the testimony of overt acts. Every act of DAVID ATCHISON is treason, and every act is overt. The evidence, with his signature affixed, may be found everywhere. He breathes nothing but threatening, threatons nothing but slaughter. The treasonable army is half enrolled; for arms they no doubt reckon on the already successful expedient of robbing the national arsenals. Never was fillibusterism half so audacious, half so dangerous; for in the issues of this contest is the fate of the Union. Can we doubt what would be the course of Government if the people thus doomed to extermination were Canadians or Cubans? Can we doubt that there would be proclamations of warning; that every officer of the Federal establishment, whether of war or peace, would be bidden to exert the utmost diligence to frustrate prevention? Would not the chief of the conspiracy, its master-spirit, be promptly arrested and tried, and, perhaps, punished as a traitor? At least, were such energetic interference premeditated, would not a peace warrant be issued against him, and he be bound in a commensurate sum to preserve the peace? Would nothing be done, if Canada or Cuba were the object of the Atchison movement? Who believes it? And yet, because Kansas, not Canada, is threatened, and the treason is internal and internecine, and not leveled at realms and strangers, having governments pledged and able to protect them, the plot proceeds in open day, and not one step is taken to vindicate the law, and execute the only mission of government, the protection of its subjects from wrong and violence. Were Kansas so fortunate as to be a dependency of her Britannic Majesty, not a day would pass, we suspect, before every such vigorous measure as those named would be directed against ATCHISON and his fellow fillibusters. There is too clearly no design on the part of those in power to adopt any such course; or any course indeed that can save the country from the evils of civil conflict.

It remains to be seen whether this abdication of the functions of government, this complicity with treason, will receive the sanction of Congress. In that body is the only hope. If in its control of appropriations, or by direct legislation, it shall oblige the Executive to the fulfillment of its duties, the future of Kansas may still be determined peacefully. The question cannot be discussed too soon or too seriously. The punishment of treason is ineffectual if it be not as well preventive as corrective. If this modern CATILINE be suffered to proceed with his insurrection, until the whole people is aroused, and armed, and opposed, unquestionably the responsibility of the struggle and bloodshed must rest upon those who now refuse to prevent, or who secretly abet, the consummation of the plot.

Amusements.

The Theatres this week offer greater attractions than they have put forth for some time, and we hope there will be a commensurate increase of business. It can no longer be disguised that the season so far has been unprofitable. Many causes can be assigned for this, not the least among which is the unusual severity of the weather, and especially the impassable state of the thoroughfares. Sleighs and stages have been of little avail, for their brief accommodations have been counterbalanced by the sad reflection that, wherever they might deposit their passengers, there was a certainty of a snow-bank to wade through before the portals of the Theatre could be reached. Beside this, there has been an absence of managerial enterprise and tact. We have been called upon to notice few new pieces, and these have seldom been original, but simply importations. There has consequently been no excitement; nothing for the press or the people to talk about, and nothing to sustain the flagging interest of the Theatres.

WALLACK'S THEATRE has furnished the exception to this rule. "Po-ca-hon-tas," produced at Christmas with brilliant success, maintained its interest to the close, and will continue to attract crowded houses even on a reproduction. Since its withdrawal the houses have fallen off, and we are glad that they have done so, for it will teach managers that the beggarly system of stealing from the English stage is not in the long run the best. A local piece, written by a resident author, and dealing with topics familiar to the public, has never failed, and can never fail, to interest the public. We are persuaded that had a few more original pieces been produced there would have been a better balance sheet for the managers. The mere desperation of playing a dozen different Cockney pieces on a dozen different nights can create no sensation but that of weariness.

One of the oldest traditions of WALLACK'S theatre will probably be destroyed to-night. We refer to the production of a piece called "Duke Humphrey's Dinner," a play that has been announced as in preparation from time immemorial, and of late years has been looked on as a kind of managerial joke. To our consternation this piece is on the bill for to-night—at the top instead of the bottom. Unless the printer has made a blunder (which we do not anticipate) "Duke Humphrey's Dinner" will actually be played to-night. Also the "Village Doctor" and the "Little Treasure"—a splendid entertainment.

J. H. MCVICKER, the American comedian, who is said to be the only legitimate representative of Yankee character now on the stage, makes his first appearance to-night at Burton's Theatre, in the comic piece of "Sam Slick in France." Two other [illegible] that Mr. [illegible] will [illegible] played.

At the Bowery Theatre, Mr. J. W. WAL-

[illegible]

At the NATIONAL, Tom Taylor's New Drama will effect "The Invasion of Ireland," something more than the R. M. A.'s have done so far.

At the VARIETIES, "Some of Your" is repeated. The exceedingly comic piece, called the "Rebellion in Throat," will also be played.

For other entertainments of a more miscellaneous character, we refer to our advertising columns, reminding our readers that at the BURTON, in addition to hundreds of other attractions, there are good dramatic performances.

Rachel.

Mlle. RACHEL returned to New-York in the Black Warrior, which arrived here on Saturday. It is rumored that the great tragedienne intends to depart for Europe in a few days. We take the liberty of doubting whether such will be the case. Mlle. RACHEL is unfortunately in feeble health, induced by over-exertion, but the bracing atmosphere of the North and repose will, we hope, speedily restore her to health. We shall be grievously disappointed if we do not once more subdue ourselves to the shadow of Mlle. RACHEL's mighty genius.

LATER FROM HAVANA.

Arrival of the Black Warrior.

The United States Mail steamer Black Warrior, J. W. SMITH, Commander, from New-Orleans the 25th and Havana the evening of the 28th, arrived at this port. The United States frigate Potomac, Commodore BARNEWITZ, and steam-steamer Fulton left for Key West the morning of the 26th. During their stay the officers dined at the Palace. Salutes and other civilities were exchanged with the greatest good feeling. Two French vessels of war in the harbor, no English.

The crop of sugar in market is smaller than usual at this season, owing to the unpropitious state of the weather for harvesting and transporting. Havana is filled with strangers, particularly Americans; they are met in the street, cafés, and hotels at every turn. By order of the Captain-General, the small coin of the United States has been depreciated. The Black Warrior brings Mlle. RACHEL, whose health is still very delicate. She will leave at once for Liverpool, on her way to sa belle France. The remainder of the troupe go home direct.

New Financial Law—Dinner to Gen. Spaulding—Mlle. Rachel.

Correspondence of the New-York Daily Times.

HAVANA, Monday, Jan. 28, 1856.

Since my last we have had a financial law, passed by the one-breath power, reducing the value of sundry silver coins of the United States, which, in the course of commercial intercourse, have been drawn into our circulation. The silver half-dollar is to be worth but four reals "sencillos," or forty cents, and the quarter-of-a-dollar twenty cents. This will make very little difference among those who are most directly interested in our custom, as they will, for the prosecution of their business, present the same value of the coin. Cigar makers, ship chandlers and hotel keepers are interested in preserving the intrinsic worth of the money, and they will be able to do so against the influence of brokers and power of the law. All other coins of silver preserve their legitimate value in the United States, and gold of the United States is not affected.

The United States Steam Potomac left Havana the 24th for a cruise in the Gulf, and is to touch at Key West and Pensacola before the exchange here or to San Juan. General QUITMAN gave a magnificent dinner on the 24th instant, the Consul of the United States, and several naval gentlemen with Spanish chief of the same arm, in honor of the strangers. It was a nice affair—done by Dunscombe—practiced over by the accomplished lady of the host, and did not wear out until the hand struck up a national strain on the Plaza de Armas at 9 o'clock P. M.

The French brig-of-war, Orestes, has spent much her anchorage in this port.

Madame RACHEL, also of many years, still remains here, with a little better health. She is being entertained at the principal establishment of O'Farrell, on Dulce-street, but she will probably never appear upon the stage again. She was cut upon the Fanny Fisher in a carriage yesterday, and attracted a good deal of attention—some remark as to the actual cause of her calling, &c.

The Spanish fleet have not, as yet, made any demonstration on the Walker side of the Carribean Sea, but, it is said, that they will do so in due season, when perfect combination is determined. We are informed by our spies, that Mr. CHARTRON had demanded his passport—to give the right tone to our sentiments, should it no chance then it should be sent him. We have better weather, and the planters better hopes. I have received no flies by last steamers, which is matter of serious regret.

NEW-YORK CITY.

Funeral of Mr. W. H. Cassiff.

Mr. W. H. CASSIFF, well known as a reporter of the DAILY TIMES, and other journals in this City, was buried, yesterday, at Trinity Cemetery. The funeral took place from his late residence, No. 120 West Twenty-first-street. A large number of persons were present at the ceremony, among whom we recognized several magistrates and members of the City Council, representatives of the daily press, policemen, detailed from the various Wards of the City, and clerks of the different Police Courts. Less than a year ago Mr. CASSIFF resigned his situation as a reporter, and was appointed to fill the situation of Police Clerk at the Jefferson Market Court. His Honor FERNANDO WOOD refused to acknowledge the appointment. A law-suit was the consequence, in which the Mayor had to reconcile himself to a defeat. But Mr. CASSIFF did not long survive to enjoy his triumph. He was incapacitated for work before his suit was gained, and he died before he had reaped any advantage from the appointment.

Mr. CASSIFF was long and well-known as a reporter for the Press. He was eminently diligent, and faithful almost to a fault. His friends in this City were to be enumerated, not by the score, but by the hundred. There was scarcely another man whose face was more familiar to lawyers, policemen, justices, merchants, hotel keepers, and men of business generally. And wherever he was known he was regarded with warm esteem.

The funeral services yesterday were performed at his late residence by Rev. JAMES A. BEMENT, D. D.

House-Hunting.

Probably nine tenths of our tenant population who pay quarterly rents were notified last week that they must before this week is out make up their minds whether they will or not rent the houses they now occupy for another year. So to-day the town puts on its bonnet and cloak and goes out hunting a house. But the search will be likely to prove quite fruitless for some weeks to come. Landlords are very sparing of their "To Lets," at this season. Those that wish to sell keep the "For Sale" posted throughout February. By March, if unsuccessful, they signify their willingness to let. Nor if a whole block—the property of one man—is vacated, will he put up more then one or two bills upon it. To do so would advertise the fact that a whole block of residents had determined that the houses they vacate are undesirable. The bills go up one at a time, and as one is taken, another bill appears alongside.

There is a block on Fifth-avenue, of which the grasping owner failed to let, we believe, more than a single house, last year,—yet only one of them had a bill on it, or gave externally any indication of the anxiety of the owner to get it off his hands.

House-hunting, after all, is not the worst thing in the world. Many learn all their metropolitan geography this month. Ladies generally enjoy it very much, though for house-keepers it is very hard. To take a lady or a gentleman all over one's domicil, from parlor to bath-room, and from basement to garret, is to give him or her extraordinary facilities for blowing upon our weak points, and furnishes hearty food for gossip. House-keepers, put your houses in order—in every corner—and prove your politeness by being very patient when the hail stops.

We see no indication of any coming down of rents—nor do we see any reason why rents should be much more as to pay the increased rents that some avaricious and greedy landlords are trying to get in their leaky old tenements. Inside, there are railroads and steamboats plying to hundreds of quiet little suburban villages, where people can breathe fresh air and live like cheaply as they please, though as cheap as they please, not without a smart walk or a quick ride of half an hour. And, as fewer stalls in the business part of the town will a poor tenant's business [illegible] By the way, this cold snap is just the [illegible] to see how bad a job it is to get [illegible] Wherever one can get this work with-

[illegible]

LONG ISLAND.

The Catholic Church in Brooklyn.

Yesterday a Mission was commenced in the Catholic Church, in St. Mary's [illegible] Church, (Yorkville) was [illegible] the service.

[illegible]

Mortality in Brooklyn.

During the week ending the 26 inst. there were 41 deaths in this city, from [illegible] Dysentery.—Abscess, 1; [illegible] ty, congestion of the lungs, [illegible] the chest, fever, [illegible] bowels, inflammation of the [illegible] age, pemigo, scrofula, still-born, [illegible] fever, and measles, 2 each; [illegible] birth, 3 each; dropsy, [illegible] inflammation of the [illegible] Males, 20; females, [illegible]

A magnificent church [illegible] to the Christian [illegible] afternoon, by Bishop [illegible] Dr. Lamoyne, late pastor.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PATENT—RHEUMATISM.

How the A. B. [illegible] from a crippled [illegible] of four [illegible] in New-York [illegible] Rheumatism, Wounds and Bruises.

BRANDRETH'S

Messrs. RAMWAY & Co.—I [illegible] had my joints rubbed with [illegible] the first ten minutes I was [illegible] went three. Sirs, I do not [illegible] a charm; for it is a mystery to me [illegible] two years, and has not [illegible] three years. I was [illegible] amused the use of [illegible] Regulators. The pain left [illegible] gan to gain strength every [illegible] in a few weeks. Before [illegible] taken to Dr. Parker, Dr. [illegible] lden and many others [illegible] now cured. [illegible] them. My constitution [illegible] that did me no good, [illegible] nor pick up a pin. I was [illegible] quite like an infant; [illegible] your Regulators, I can go [illegible] same. You can publish this [illegible] pleasing.

No. 344 Bleecker-st., [illegible]

N. B.—Persons living in the [illegible] of the above disease may [illegible] some in the country can write [illegible] Physicians named above. We have [illegible] learned doctors to refer the public [illegible] so in order that the public may [illegible] Hooph was under the care of [illegible] let, Regulators and Rheumatic [illegible] human body from disease, and [illegible] and bed-ridden, to health [illegible] good skillful physicians [illegible] been tried in vain. Office [illegible] medical aid free from 9 to 9 A. M. [illegible] R. R. R. Office, No. 103 Fulton-st.

CLOTHING AT WHOLESALE.

Inform Southern and Western [illegible] of Boston and Southern Clothing [illegible] takes the largest variety of [illegible] ever got up by first houses, [illegible] to the finest articles in the trade, all [illegible] superior style.

Nos. 289, 291 and 293 Bowery, [illegible]

HAIR, WHISKERS, OFFICE.

BATCHELOR'S DYE, the best, [illegible] and variety, all in one [illegible] genuine; and [illegible] Factory, 233 Broadway, [illegible]

COLD FEET AND CHAPPED HANDS—DR. [illegible] PULMONIC LINIMENT, no one need have cold feet or chapped hands. A sure warmer and good protector [illegible] Price only 25 and 50 cents. Sold by all the [illegible] Depot, No. 60 Cortlandt-st.

CHEVALIER'S HAIR DYE, WIGS AND TOUPEES [illegible] at Chevalier's Hair Dye Wig and Toupee Factory, No. 1 Park Row.

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.—[illegible] addition the hair becomes [illegible] of natural color. [illegible] Factory, 233 Broadway.

DAY GOODS.

[illegible]

BERRY'S BERRY.

[illegible]

LAPS.

[illegible]

BOOKS.

[illegible]

PURPLE MANGANESE.

[illegible]

WAREHOUSE.

[illegible]

BARGAIN BUREAU.

[illegible]

PAPER HANGINGS.

[illegible]

MADAME DEMOREST'S REPOSITORY.

[illegible]

HOWES'S PATENT.

[illegible]

ALEXANDER CUMMING'S

[illegible]

THE CHEAPEST STORE IN THE CITY.

[illegible]

THE CHEAPEST PLACE.

[illegible]

DRESSMAKING, CLOAKS, &c.

[illegible]

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

[illegible]

HAYES.

[illegible]

OILS AND PAINTS.

[illegible]

BUTTER.

[illegible]

NOTICE.

[illegible]

COAL.

[illegible]

YEAST.

[illegible]

SPECIAL NOTICES.

[illegible]

PERSONAL.

[illegible]

PUBLIC MEETINGS.

[illegible]

BUSINESS CHANCES.

[illegible]

LOST AND FOUND.

[illegible]

INSTRUCTION.

[illegible]

BOARDING.

[illegible]

FURNISHED ROOMS.

[illegible]

HOUSES.

[illegible]

STORES.

[illegible]

SITUATIONS WANTED.

[illegible]

SITUATIONS WANTED.

[illegible]

SITUATIONS WANTED

New-York Daily Times, Monday, February 2, 1857.

NEW-YORK CITY.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

[illegible] LAWYER.

A German peddler, named Henry Stock, was brought before and committed by Justice [illegible], yesterday, on a charge of stealing a gold watch [illegible] Leopold Hecht, of the same place, [illegible]. The prisoner was confronted by a lawyer named Adolph Levinger, and when the [illegible] was tested Levinger made out a bill against the client to which was an item of seventy-five cents, which charged the lawyer said he had paid to the Clerk of the Court for issuing the warrant for the arrest of the peddler. The bill was paid, but the lawyer, afterwards learning that the Clerk had no right to receive pay for making out the warrant, and that he did not receive any, preferred a complaint "false pretences" against the lawyer Levinger, who was thereupon arrested and held to bail to answer the charge.

[illegible] ARROW A MAN'S OWN GUN.

[illegible] "muscle" in their physical encounters, [illegible] has in this, as in other things, greatly changed. Teeth do the work now. The question "how is your muscle?" is changed to "how is your sharp-shooter little well?" The coward [illegible] and chivalry of the "ring" has [illegible] to the brutal and cowardly "bag." The [illegible] "look out for your eye!" is now, "protect your nose!" Joseph Corcoran and John Curran got into a dispute about 12 o'clock on Saturday night, at the [illegible] No. 162 William-st. [illegible] Curran received his antagonist down by a blow in the abdomen, and then bit off a [illegible] of his nose! The bystanders then interfered, [illegible] officer, who arrested the cowardly brute and locked him up in the Second Ward Station-house. He was yesterday brought up before Justice Welsh for examination. His victim appeared in court wearing a piece of his nasal organ in his [illegible]. Curran was committed for trial. He should be punished by having all his teeth extracted by a "bull-dedicated" dentist, and without the consolation of chloroform.

ASSAULT AND ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.

A complaint was made a few days since before Justice Bonnegan by Frederick Wolle, a boarder at the Manhattan Hotel, against Ernest Henchel, Martin Hoffman, and Philip Tobias, whom he charged with robbing a gambling house at No. 152 Divingtonstreet. He states that on one occasion he lost $5 at "faro" at the establishment, and subsequently $7 more. On the last occasion he found fault with the manner of playing which they pursued, for which offence he was set upon, beat and kicked by Moses Hirschock and David Wolf and Jules Mondelsohn, three bouncers. The Magistrate issued warrants for the arrest of all the accused, and they were captured and held to answer the charges against them.

CAPTURE OF THIEVES.

Augusto Miller, a German, was arrested on Saturday, in the act of stealing a bag containing eleven dozen morocco skins, valued at $96, from the store of Brown & Sherwood, No. 122 Spruce-street. He was locked up by Justice Welsh to answer.

Two young men, named George Wood and James Wilson, were arrested the same day for stealing an overcoat, containing valuable papers, belonging to Mr. Francis McDougall, of Forty-fourth-street, near Fifth-avenue. The theft was committed at a barber's shop in the above vicinity where Mr. McD. was getting shaved. The thieves ran off with the coat, but were pursued and captured with it in their possession. They were taken before Justice Woom and locked up.

[illegible] DEPUTY SHERIFF SIMPSON.

Frank M'Gee, a notorious Five Points thief, and one of the gang who recently attacked and robbed Mr. Robert Simpson, a deputy sheriff, as he was passing through William-street, was arrested on Saturday night, by Sergeant Jourdan, of the Lower Police Court, and William Seeley identified by Mr. Simpson, was locked up by Justice Bonnegan for trial. The prisoner is the "well-dressed man," who ran off with $18 and a promissory note for $61, belonging to Mr. Simpson.

Miscellaneous.

UNKNOWN MAN DROWNED.

About 6½ o'clock on Saturday evening, an unknown man was seen to fall overboard at Catharine-slip, and it is supposed he injured himself severely by striking his head against the side of a brig which lay near the Pier. Efforts were made to rescue him, but they were in vain, as he sank immediately.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Johanna Hearing, an Irish woman, 30 years of age, attempted suicide on Saturday by jumping into the dock foot of Sixteenth-street, East River. She was, however, rescued by the mate of the brig Triumph, and properly provided for at a house near by.

Clear the Track.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

Mr. JOSEPH S. TAYLOR, Street Commissioner, says: "The owner shall level the snow and ice in front of his premises in such a manner as will admit of the convenient passing of horses, sleighs and carriages, under the penalty of one dollar."

Will you please set the Commissioner right, and tell him to see first who did put the snow and ice in front of the houses, and give order to the railroad companies to let the snow alone, or take the snow off entirely.

Don't punish people who own houses for mistakes the railroad companies committed.

A CONSTANT READER.

Sending Money by Mail.

Not long ago, a New-York trader visited this city on a collecting tour, and dispatched home in a letter a draft for $600. About a fortnight subsequently a letter was received from him, dated at New-York, stating that neither the draft nor letter, which he had deposited in the Post-office, had ever come to hand. Suspicion of the true cause flashed on the mind of the recipient of the news, and on proceeding to the Post-office he found that the New-Yorker had only affixed three cents to send it to his destination, instead of three cents to pay the postage, and that his draft was quietly pocketed by some lucky finder. People sending money by mail should know enough to prepay the postage.

Von Papsil, Lynn.

A Mother Comforted.

Mrs. SHARPLY heard that WILLIAM SHARPLY had fallen from a sixth-story window and knocked his brains out. She consoled herself with a pinch of snuff, and the reflection that it couldn't be her Bill, because she knew he hadn't any brains.

Medical.

The Harvard College Medical Board has amended the rules so as to require that every candidate for the degree of M. D. shall have attained the age of twenty-one years; shall have pursued a three years course of study with a regular physician, and have taken the two courses of lectures by each of the Professors; or one course with an equivalent in some other institution.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

COURT CALENDAR—MONDAY.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—Term opens to-morrow.

SUPREME COURT—General Term.—Nos. 1 to 15. All the Judges at Chambers at 10 o'clock A. M.

SUPREME COURT—Circuit.—Nos. 11, 71, 143, 264, 501, [illegible] 126, 127, 135, 149, 166, 183, 216, 2052, 2064, [illegible]

SUPREME COURT.—Nos. 228, 282, 442, 455, 458, 496, [illegible] 520, 542, 536, 543, 545, 175, 276, 551, 557, [illegible] 566, 567, 569 to 575, 24, 21, 15, 16.

COMMON PLEAS.—Part I.—Nos. 180, 300, 901, 302, [illegible] 311, 312, 313, 9, 4, 6, 7, 8. Part II.—Nos. [illegible] 30 to 38, 41, 43, 46, 48, 49, 44, 57.

The Civil Courts.

This being the first day of the February Term, there will be an unusual bustle and excitement among the profession. The Supreme Court General Term will sit in banco, and have a very heavy appeal calendar. The Courts of the United States will present features of unusual interest during the month. The Superior Court and Common Pleas have about the average amount of causes on their calendar, but nothing that we can hear, is likely to create an unusual excitement.

General Sessions.

The following is the calendar of cases for disposal for the Court of General Sessions for the term commencing to-day: Murder 1, which Judge Clerke will preside; manslaughter, grades 2, grand larceny 17, burglary 10, arson 2, forgery 6, felonious assault and battery 5, robbery 1, cheating 3, false pretences 1, kidnapping 1, illegal voting 1, larceny 1, perjury 1, mayhem 1, abandonment 1; misdemeanor 2. Total, 117.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Hon. Justice Clerke.

IMPORTANT OPINION—DIRECTIONS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE RURAL GRAVEYARDS.

Gerling vs. Gerling et al.—It will be remembered by the readers of the TIMES that we gave a report of the above entitled cause. A decision has recently been given, and the following opinion rendered. The opinion is so lucid and well worth reading, it reminds us of an opinion rendered by Lamplaw, J., reported in Chancery Reports, for February, 1852, in the case of Chancery vs. North. There, the object was to decide whether a gift of some jewelry, without a seal was valid. In order to prove that it was not, the Justice [illegible] Hamlyn: "His signet [illegible] Justice Clerke's opinion, however, contains more good, wholesome truth, which might be profitably [illegible] by the Bench and Bar.

QUERY, 1.—Is it now and established that the court will grant an injunction against the use by one tradesman of the trade name of another. Will such an injunction be extended to enterprises, undertaking for the purpose of diffusing amusement or information, or of literary? With respect to trade, it may be alleged that the interests of commerce and generate the interposition of the Court; while the well-being of society is not sufficiently promoted to require the extension of this species of protection to undertakings of which the main, if not the sole object, is at the least more pastime. This can be the only ground to which it has to be plausibly claimed that the Court can make any difference in interposing relief between the present case and an ordinary case of trade-mark. But I have been unable to discover any essential difference in kind, in reference to this subject, between establishments formed for the purpose of trade and those formed for the purpose of mere amusement. There may be, in degree, a difference, and a considerable difference, in the responsibility and utility of such undertakings, but while neither vexatious, or is necessarily calculated to exercise, any demoralising influence, I consider one as well entitled to the protection of the law as the other. "Man does not live by bread alone," that is, the complete enjoyment, even of his physical existence, does not depend upon mere food or raiment or other material substances, but upon the exercise of the various and numerous mental and moral faculties with which God has endowed us. It may be as necessary to laugh as to eat; and I am persuaded if people would eat less and laugh more, that their moral as well as physical well being would be materially improved. The gravest of poets sings that "The love of pleasure is man's oldest born;

Wisdom, her younger sister, though more grave,
Was meant to minister and not to mar
Imperial pleasure, queen of human hearts."

It is ur questionably the duty of Courts to regard with disfavor every establishment having any tendency to corrupt the public morals, to create idle or dissipated habits, to encourage a craving for undue excitement, or to impair the taste for domestic attachments and domestic society. Nothing has been shown in this motion to induce me to believe that the establishment of the plaintiff had any tendency to produce effects of this description. His entertainments may not be of that kind in which men of the highest refinement and delicacy of culture would take any particular delight, but they serve a very salutary purpose if they afford diversion and music to the million at a small expense, and without the dissipation and silly display of pieces of much greater pretensions.

The plaintiff organized and established in 1842, a band of performers of Negro Minstrelsy which he shortly afterwards named, after himself, "Christy's Minstrels;" he was the first who established this species of entertainments; when he commenced it he incurred some expenditure of time, labor and money, and continued it with success in this City until the Fall of 1854, when he suspended it here, and went to California; after an absence of some months he returned; he had not yet resumed his performances, but declares that it is his intention soon to do do. In the mean time, the defendants, most of whom belonged to his band, but were merely employed by him as performers at a certain stipend, have assumed the style and name of "Christy's Minstrels," and he asks the Court to enjoin them against continuing the use of this name. For the reasons I have mentioned, I think he is entitled to its exclusive use, and unless he has given to the defendants a license to use it, his application must be granted.

The defendants have furnished no satisfactory evidence of such a license; and if they had, unless they could also show it was irrevocable, they would have no right to continue the use of this name one moment after he signified his intention to discontinue or withdraw the privilege.

The motion to continue the injunction granted with $10 costs. For plaintiff, F. S. Stallknecht; for defendant, J. M. Van Cott.

Before Hon. Justice Whiting.

The Attorney-General vs. The Life and Fire Insurance Company.—Order Granted.

Canter vs. Canter.—The bill is not drawn in conformity with rule 64.

Miles vs. Latch.—Order to be made, with certain regulations.

MARKET REPORTS.

Markets—Carefully Reported for N. Y. Daily Times.

SATURDAY, Feb. 2—6 P. M.

ASHES—Scarce and quiet at old figures. Stock in the Inspection Warehouse, to-day, 54 bbls. Pearls, and 381 bbls. Pots, together 431 bbls.

COFFEE—Rio is in brisk demand, mostly for the trade, at buoyant rates. This day's sales reach 5,500 bags at 11¼c.@12¼c. ⅌ lb. Mr. WM. SCOTT, broker, obligingly furnished us with a copy of a private telegraphic dispatch from New-Orleans, dated Feb. 1, advising of a strong market there, with sales of 9,000 bags Rio to Western merchants, at 10¾c.@11¾c. ⅌ lb. This intelligence had a very favorable influence on our market to-day. The stock of Rio here is now down to about 98,500 bags. Other kinds are quiet, but stiffly held. The stock of Java does not exceed 26,500 pkgs. The stock of all other descriptions comprises only about 9,000 bags.

COTTON—The demand is tolerably animated at buoyant prices. The sales of the week ending this evening are estimated at nearly 15,500 bales, here and in transitu. Through some owners claim rather higher rates, the annexed list may be considered a fair representation of the market value of the various grades:

NEW-YORK CLASSIFICATION.

	Upland.	Florida.	Mobile.	N. O. & Texas.
Ordinary	8¼	8¼	8¼	8¼
Middling	9¾	9¾	9¾	10
Middling Fair	10	10	10¼	10¾
Fair	10¾	10¾	11	11¼

FLOUR AND MEAL—State and Western brands are in rather better request, but are without essential change in price. The sales since our last embrace 6,400 bbls., mostly to home dealers—shippers manifesting no inclination to purchase. The sales were effected at prices mainly within the annexed range:

Ordinary State	$7 75 @ $7 81½
Straight State	7 81½@ 7 87½
Favorite and Extra State	7 87½@ 8 12½
Mixed Western	7 75 @ 7 81½
Common to Good Indiana and Mich.	7 87½@ 8 12½
Fancy Michigan	8 12½@ 8 25
Common to Good Ohio	7 87½@ 8 12½
Fancy Ohio	8 12½@ 8 25
Extra Ohio	8 25 @ 9 50
Extra Indiana and Michigan	8 25 @ 9 50
Fancy Genesee	8 25 @ 8 50
Extra Genesee	8 75 @11 00

Canadian remains dull and heavy, with sales of only small lots. Superfine to best Extra at $8 12½@$10 ⅌ bbl. Southern is quiet and depressed. The sales since our last amount to about 600 bbls. mixed to extra at $8 87½@$10 25 ⅌ bbl. Rye Flour is plenty and selling moderately at $5@$7 for Fine and Superfine, ⅌ bbl. Corn Meal is in slack request, and heavy in price, at $3 87½ for Jersey, and $4 12½ for Brandywine, ⅌ bbl. Buckwheat Flour is in demand at $2 87½@$3 62½ ⅌ 100 lbs.

GRAIN—Wheat is obtainable at fully 5c. ⅌ bushel below Thursday's currency, but, though the stock is small, there is a reluctance to buy, even at the aforementioned reduction. We can only report a sale of an average parcel of Canadian White at $2 06 ⅌ bushel. Rye is actively inquired for by shippers, and is steady in price. 12,000 bushels have been purchased at $1 50@$1 51 ⅌ bushel. Barley and Oats are dull and drooping. Corn is inactive and irregular in value. Buyers are unwilling to move until they get their letters per Arabia. The sales since our last have been confined to about 16,500 bushels, in small lots, at 80c. for New-Jersey Yellow; 82c.@86c. for old Southern Mixed; 81c.@83c. for new Southern Yellow and White, and 86c.@93c. for old Western Mixed, in store and delivered, ⅌ bushel.

HAY—Unchanged.

HOPS—Quiet at old figures.

IRON—Remains as last noticed.

LEAD—Is inactive, yet stiffly held. FARRE & PERKINS, brokers, inform us that the total stock on hand is about 3,800 tons, against 6,000 tons same date last year.

LIME—Sales have been reported of two small cargoes of Rockland, at 90c. for Common, and $1 25 for Lump, ⅌ bbl.

MOLASSES—There were 400 bbls. New-Orleans purchased at 44c.@46c. ⅌ gallon. The stock here to-day embraced about 8,100 bbls. New-Orleans, and 126 hhds. Cuba.

NAVAL STORES—Essentially the same.

OILS—The business in all kinds has been quite limited at old figures.

PROVISIONS—Pork is still less active and is on the decline, though holders are reluctant to sell at any material abatement in prices. The sales since our last comprise about 600 bbls., in lots, at $16 12½ @$16 25 for Mess, and $14 12½@$14 25 for Prime ⅌ barrel. Dressed Hogs are in good demand and steady, at 7¼c.@7½c. ⅌ lb. Cut Meats are plenty and heavy, at 8¾c.@9¾c. for Hams, and 7¾c.@7½c. for Shoulders, ⅌ lb. Bacon is less active, but steady with a very small stock, at 9¾c.@ 10¼c., as in quality, ⅌ lb. Lard is dull and drooping, with sales of 275 bbls. good to strictly Prime, at 10¼c.@10½c., ⅌ lb. Beef favors buyers—the sales since our last including only 350 bbls. at from $6 87½@$6 62½ for Country Prime; $10 62½@$11 25 for do. Mess, and $13 25@$14 ⅌ for repacked do., ⅌ bbl. Prime Mess Beef commands $18@$18 ⅌ tierce. Beef Hams are in fair supply and demand, with sales, in lots, at prices ranging from $21@$23 ⅌ bbl. Butter is selling less freely at 11c.@22c. for Ohio; 12c.@20c. for common to very good State; and 22c. @30c. for Prime and Choice do., ⅌ lb. Cheese is rather dull and heavy, at 8c.@10½c. ⅌ lb.

RICE—150 trcs. changed hands, to-day, at yesterday's reduced prices.

SPICES—The demand is generally limited, at old figures.

SUGARS—Are held with increased firmness, but there is not much doing. The accounts from Havana of bad weather for planters, and the news by the Arabia of improved prices in England, induce among holders a strong feeling, which meets with but a faint response from buyers. Messrs. FOWN & BLACK, in their circular for the Arabia, to-day, mentioned that, during the last fortnight, there was experienced an improved demand for qualities suitable to the trade. A large portion of this demand has been for the Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore markets, in all of which places there are light stocks.

TEA—Is generally quoted above the views of buyers. Sales light. Stocks also light.

WHALEBONE—Holders ask a slight advance, but [illegible]

WHISKY—There have been no sales Ohio and Prairie bbls. at [illegible] Western.

FREIGHTS—Were extremely quiet and unsettled. Operators have generally set up their European letters, by the Arabia, before entering into any new engagements of importance. We heard of no movements of magnitude.

Spirit of the Trade Circulars.

LEWIS A. NORMAN & CO.'S MONTHLY PRICE CIRCULAR.

NEW-YORK, Friday, Feb. 1, 1857.

During the early portion of the past month, our market for American Hemp was even more inactive than it had previously been, and, under the influence of forced sales, prices, for a time, declined sensibly. This unanticipated state of things, however, proved only temporary, and was followed by a healthy reaction, so that sales have been recently made at prices which show an improvement of from $15 to $25 ⅌ ton, on the rates obtained for those lots pressed for immediate sale, upon arrival, with which the transactions of the new year commenced. The stock, as reported in our circular for January, consisted of

Undressed.....4,303 bales|Dressed.....1,461 bales
Arrived since.. 615 bales|Arrived since.. 875 bales

The month's sales embrace 1,342 bales undressed at $175@$180, and 787 bales dressed at $285@$290 for medium; $290@$295 for fine; and $365@$370 for extra fine hand dressed, leaving the present stock, in first hands—Undressed 3,575 bales; Dressed 1,636 bales; which is very firmly held, and mostly at the following quotations:

Undressed, fair to good	$ —@$180
Undressed, good to prime	$185@$190
Undressed, choice	$ —@$ —
Dressed, ordinary to medium	$290@$300
Dressed, fine	$325@$370
Dressed, extra fine (hand dressed)	$375@$ —

RUSSIAN HEMP—Remains unchanged, as, with the exception of some peace rumors noticed below, but little further has transpired at all calculated to affect the course of the markets during the coming season. The cost of inland transportation to the point of shipment has been much lessened under new arrangements, so that prices may rule lower, and such appears to be the general feeling. On the other hand, however, surmises have been current that the allied fleets may blockade the Prussian ports, which would totally prevent shipments. Some American vessels are in the Baltic, and it is expected they will be able to get out with full cargoes of Hemp and Yarns before the appearance there of the blockading fleets in the Spring. The last London quotations were £42@£43.

MANILA—Stock on hand Jan. 1, 15,000 bales. Arrived since, including Dec. 31, 11,870 bales.

The advices received from Manila were of a character to impart increased firmness to holders here, and the demand being brisk the sales were large, including the receipts and about 2,000 bales from store, at 10¼@11c., leaving about 12,000 bales in first hands, which are held at 11c.@11½c., the market closing very firm.

SISAL—No arrivals. Small sales from store at 10½c.

JUTE—Remains without much change. The receipts at this port in January were 1,150 bales. The sales amount to 1,100 bales at $87½@$90, at which latter price the stock remaining in first hands, about 1,100 bales, is held.

GUNNY CLOTH—As is usual at this season, the market for this article has been very quiet, and sales limited; prices also are a little lower, 12c. being above the range, though many holders refuse to offer their stocks at this rate, awaiting a change as the Spring opens.

Imports at Boston from Jan. 1 to Jan. 30:

1856	1,428 bales.
1855	1,310 bales.

H. B. HULL'S HIDE AND LEATHER CIRCULAR.

HIDES.—The receipts for this month have been quite large, amounting to 205,000, of which 196,350 were from Foreign Ports and 16,000 Coastwise. The demand has been steady with but little variation in prices, and only a slight increase in the stock, owing chiefly to the heavy sales made in December to arrive. Although but little animation is manifested by the trade, prices have been well maintained, owing to the firmness of holders who were unwilling to make any material concessions, at the present rates, for any thing short of South American.

The sales during the week have been larger than those of any week during the month, and the stock has materially diminished. Receipts have been to a fair extent and have been sold as soon as offered at current rates.

There is now little or no difficulty experienced in shipping Hides to the interior, and as we may therefore expect a good demand for some time to come, there is but little prospect of an accumulation of stock.

Receipts have been 37,426 Hides, as follows: 12,497 Buenos Ayres, ⅌ Hannibal; 5,704 Rio Grande, ⅌ W. A. Kibby; 893 Curacoa, ⅌ Venus; 370 Mexican, ⅌ Onward; 283 Savanilla, ⅌ Osprey, and 7,197 coastwise, and 800 Dry and 800 Salted Rio Grande Horse, and 150 Dry and 1,802 Salted Buenos Ayres Horse, making in all 29,629 from foreign ports, and 7,797 coastwise, including 5,154 Mexican.

Sales are: 11,022 Dry Buenos Ayres, 70@21 lbs., at 26c., 6 mos., usual selection, (part before arrival); 7,000 Dry Rio Grande, 20¾ lbs., at 25c., cash, less 5 ⅌ cent., usual selection; 768 Dry Rio Grande, 20¾ lbs., at 25½c., 6 mos., usual selection; 12,900 Dry Orinoco, 21 lbs., at 22½c., 6 mos., usual selection, part cash, less discount; 3,000 Dry Orinoco, 20 lbs., at 24c., 6 and 9 mos., usual selection; 1,500 Dry Tampico, 20¼ lbs., at 21½c., 6 mos., usual selection; 1,499 Dry and Salted Tampico, at 20c. for Dry, and 19c. for Salted, 6 mos., usual selection; 1,779 Dry Orinoco, 19 lbs., at 22½c., 6 mos., as they run; 800 Dry Porto Rico, 23 lbs., at 17½c., 6 mos., as they run; 1,000 Dry Southern, 16 lbs., at 16½c., cash, as they run; 7,200 Dry Savanilla, 25 lbs., at 19c., 6 mos., rejecting water-damaged; 700 Dry Texas, 27@28 lbs., at 18c., 6 mos., rejecting water-damaged; 552 Green Salted Para, 46 lbs., at 12½c., 6 mos., rejecting water-damaged; 10,000 to 12,000 Dry Porto Cabello, (to arrive,) 22½ lbs., at 22c., usual selection. Expected to arrive shortly at this port, the George Otis, from Buenos Ayres, with 6,000 hides; the California, from Buenos Ayres, with 5,000 hides; the Warren Goddard, from Rio Grande, with 6,000 hides; the Corvo, from Orinoco, with 12,000 hides; the Frank, from Porto Cabello, with 7,000 hides; the Sarah Sexton, from Porto Cabello, with 6,000 hides; the steamer Tennessee, from Porto Cabello, with 3,000 hides; the Winthrop, from Savanilla, with 3,000 hides; the Restless, from Savanilla, with 2,000 hides; the Addy Swift, from Maracaibo, with 2,000 hides; the Ida Raines, from Maracaibo, with 3,000 hides, and others. The stock on hand of Ox and Cow Hides, is 51,400, as follows: 14,400 Dry Buenos Ayres and Montevideo; 6,700 Dry Rio Grande; 15,000 Dry Orinoco; 900 Dry Porto Cabello and Curacoa; 300 Dry Savanilla; 900 Dry San Juan; 2,500 Dry Bahia; 7,200 Dry Mexican; 2,000 Dry West India, Southern, &c.

LEATHER—There has been a gradual improvement in this article during the month, with a fair demand and very limited receipts, leaving the market quite bare of stock at the close of the month. The supplies in the hands of the boot and shoe manufacturers is quite light, and the prospect of a good Spring trade in Leather is very flattering. The sales of Leather, last month, were 370,000 sides of Hemlock, and 26,000 Oak—in all, 391,000 sides, not including Leather in the rough. The demand still continues good, and sales are fully equal to the receipts, leaving a very poor assortment at the close of each week. Prices are very firm with an upward tendency. Oak is in good request, but in very poor supply. Receipts of Hemlock, 38,200; of Oak, 6,200. Sales of Hemlock, 35,000; of Oak, 4,200. Stock of Hemlock, 37,000; of Oak, 6,000. We quote: Oak Slaughter and Salted, good light, 27c.@30c.; Oak Slaughter and Salted, good middle, 27c.@31c.; Oak Slaughter and Salted, good heavy, 27c.@30c.; Oak Slaughter, Spanish, good all weights, 24c.@28c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., good light, 24½c.@26c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., good middle, 25½c.@26c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., good heavy, 27c.@29c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., good light, 22½c.@24c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., good middle, 23½c.@24½c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., good heavy, 30½c.@32½c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, and Buenos Ayres Damaged, all weights, 19c.@22c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, and Buenos Ayres Poor, all weights, 11c.@14c.; Hemlock, Slaughter, in rough, 15½c.@17c., on 6 months' credit.

HAM—Is in good request, and prices are well sustained with a very light stock. A large parcel was on board the Priella, from Buenos Ayres, which was abandoned at sea, as reported last week. Sales during the week have been quite extensive, comprising 8,000 lbs. Buenos Ayres, mixed, at 26c.@26¾c.; 14,000 to 15,000 lbs. do., at 27c.; 20,000 lbs. Rio Grande, mixed, at 23c. and 2,000 lbs. do. at 23½c. Rio Grande, mixed, ⅌ lb. 26c.@23½c. Buenos Ayres, 26½c.@27c.

SKINS—Goat—Within the exception of about 00 bales of Curacoa, the cargo of the Venus, which arrived this week and have not yet been landed, we have been entirely without supplies this month. Prices will, no doubt, be sustained, and will probably range higher than last year. Heavy Skins are especially scarce and eagerly sought after, and dealers have already received orders for more than they can supply. Prime heavy Skins are held at 60c. An invoice of 21,000 Buenos Ayres has been sold on private terms.

Deer—Have been in active demand and nearly all the Skins in first hands have been sold at full prices. Domestic Skins are coming forward very slowly and only in small parcels. Sales comprise 15 bales Bolivar, at 48c.; 4,000 lbs. Arkansas, at 30c.; 700 lbs. Indian, dressed, at $1 20@$1 50 ⅌ lb.; 800 lbs. Florida, at 28c. and 600 lbs. Honduras, at 65½c., cash.

FOR THE SOUTH.

FOR SAVANNAH AND FLORIDA—United States Mail.—The fast sailing schooner KNOXVILLE, C. D. LUDLOW, Commander, will leave New-York for Savannah on WEDNESDAY, Feb. 4, from Pier No. 4 North River, at 5 o'clock, P. M., precisely.

Bills of lading signed on board. For freight, apply on board, or to

SAMUEL L. MITCHELL, No. 12 Broadway.

Cabin passage to Savannah, $20.

For Florida, through tickets from New-York to Jacksonville, $21; Pilatka, $25.

Large and commodious steamers leave Savannah for Florida three times a week, connecting with the steamers for New-York on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

The steamer ALABAMA, Geo. E. SPENCER, Commander, will succeed the above and leave on SATURDAY, Feb. 9.

FOR HAVANA AND NEW-ORLEANS—The United States Mail steamship BLACK WARRIOR, J. W. Burton, Commander, will commence receiving freight TUESDAY, Feb. 3, and will for the above port, on MONDAY, Feb. 11, at 3 P. M. precisely. Send for freight, for which a large amount offers.

WM. VAN BRUNT GRIFFITH & CO., Agents.

Office, No. 13 Park-place.

DIVIDENDS.

Common and preferred stock dividends.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE [illegible] have this day declared a dividend of [illegible] per cent, to policy holders, on the amount of their premiums paid on policies issued to this Company, and which have terminated within the year ending the 31st day of December, 1856.

They have declared a further dividend of one and one-half per cent, on the capital stock, payable to their holders, in cash and scrip, on demand.

They have also declared, together with six per cent, in cash, on the amount of outstanding scrip.

The charter of this Company, which combines the mutual principle, with a cash capital, provides that after the payment of interest on its capital, the remaining profits shall be annually apportioned between the shareholders and the policy holders, and the scrip issued therefor is not to be used or sold until the earnings, together with the capital, shall exceed ONE MILLION OF DOLLARS.

CASH CAPITAL, $150,000—WITH LARGE SURPLUS.

TRUSTEES.

Charles H. Russell,	Jedediah Dakin,
Daniel E. Tracy,	Joseph Gaillard, Jr.,
William H. Russell,	Jas. M. Waterbury,
Augustus C. Downing,	George Curtis,
Gazaway B. Lamar,	George T. Adee,
Wm. Butler Duncan,	John J. Astor, Jr.,
N. H. Wolfe,	Fred'k A. Delano,
Isaac Townsend,	Abraham Bell,
James Warren,	Daniel Drake Smith,
Arthur Leary,	Frederic G. Foster,
Mortimer W. Hamilton,	Peleg Hall,
Deming Guer,	Robert S. Rose,
John Stewart, Jr.,	Samuel V. Hoffman,
Robert B. Minturn,	Jacob Anthony, Jr.,
Reuben Withers,	J. P. Giraud Foster,
Edward C. Center,	John A. G. Gray,

ROBERT S. HONE, President.

D. F. CURRY, Secretary.

LATE SOUTH-STEER, LOCKPORT AND NIAGARA FALLS RAILROAD COMPANY.—A dividend of one per cent. from the assets of the Company will be paid to shareholders on demand, by E. WHITEHOUSE, SON & MORRISON, No. 54 William-st., corner of Fine-st., New-York.

J. R. VARNUM,
A. BOODY,
EWD. WHITEHOUSE, } Trustees.

DIVIDEND.—BROOKLYN FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.—The Board of Directors of this Company have declared a semi-annual dividend of 10 per cent. on the capital stock, payable on and after the 1st day of February next, at their office, No. 6 Merchants' Exchange, New-York. The transfer books will be closed from the 21st inst. to the 1st of February inclusive.

WM. F. LEGGETT, Secretary.

DIVIDEND.—HUTGER'S FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.—Office No. 176 Chambers-street, corner Mott-st.—The Board of Directors of this Company have declared a Semi-Annual Dividend of SIX (6) PER CENT., payable on and after the 1st FEBRUARY next. The Transfer Books will be closed from the 26th inst. to the 1st February inclusive.

EDWARD R. FELLOWS, Secretary.

TERRE HAUTE AND ALTON R. R. CO.
Office No. 16 William-st.

INTEREST NOTICE.—The 1st of February interest on the First and Second Mortgage Bonds of the Company will be paid on or after that day on the presentation of the coupons at this office.

C. MURDOCK, Treasurer.

DIVIDEND.—CLINTON FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.—The Board of Directors of this Company have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of ten (10) per cent., payable on and after the 7th inst. The transfer book will be closed until that day.

NEW-YORK, Jan. 8, 1857. JAMES B. AMES, Jr., Sec.

WEST COLUMBIA MINING AND MANUFACTURING COMPANY.—The interest coupons on certificates or loan of the above Company, due 1st of February, 1857, will be paid at the office of Messrs. SANDS & WILLS, No. 65 Wall-st., New-York, on presentation of said coupons.

MARKET FIRE INSURANCE CO.—Office No. 366 Pearl-st., NEW-YORK, Jan. 14, 1857.—The Board of Directors of this Company have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of TEN per cent. on the capital stock of the Company, payable on the 15th inst.

ASHER TAYLOR, Secretary.

THE INTEREST COUPONS—Due Feb. 1, 1857, upon the Eight per cent. Bonds of the FOX AND WISCONSIN IMPROVEMENT COMPANY, will be paid on presentation at the Bank of North America.

CHAS. TUTHILL, Treasurer.

OFFICE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF NEW-JERSEY, JANUARY 26, 1857.—The interest coupons of the First Mortgage Bonds of this Company, due 1st February proximo, will be paid on and after that date at the office of the Company, No. 60 Wall-st.

G. M. MILLIGAN, Treasurer.

CITY BANK OF BROOKLYN, BROOKLYN, Feb. 2, 1857.

DIVIDEND.—The Board of Directors have declared a dividend of four per cent., payable on the 12th inst. The transfer books will be closed until the day of payment.

R. P. PERRIN, Cashier.

GREAT WESTERN RAILROAD OF ILLINOIS.—Coupons for interest due Feb. 1, on 7 per cent. Bonds, will be paid on and after that date, on presentation at the Company's office, No. 45 William-st.

J. M. CATLIN, President.

DIVIDEND.—THE BROADWAY INSURANCE COMPANY have this day declared a semi-annual dividend of Five per cent., payable on and after the 1st of February next.

JOHN WRAY, Secretary.

NEW-YORK, Jan. 22, 1857.

TOLEDO AND ILLINOIS, AND LAKE ERIE, WABASH AND ST. LOUIS RAILROAD COMPANIES.—The Interest Coupons of these companies, due 1st Feb. next, will be paid at No. 54 William-st., corner of Pine by E. WHITEHOUSE, SON & MORISON.

BOUNTY LANDS.

UNITED STATES PASSPORTS—Issued by J. B. NONES, Notary Public, U. S. Commissioner and Commissioner of all the States. No. 1½ Warren-st. Naturalized citizens must produce certificates. Also, Bounty Land, Pensions, Extra Pay, &c., procured by J. B. N.

LAND WARRANTS—Bought at the highest prices, and claims for Bounty Land Pensions, &c., promptly attended to, by

GEO. WOODMAN, No. 49 William-st.

LAND WARRANTS WANTED.
TAYLOR BROTHERS, Bankers,
No. 76 Wall-st., New-York.
Orders promptly supplied. Warrants always on hand.

LAND WARRANTS—BOUGHT AND SOLD—On the most favorable terms, by

KIRTLAND & CO., No. 46 Wall-st.

BANK NOTICES.

SAVINGS BANK.—MARINER'S SAVINGS INSTITUTION, 3d-av., corner of 9th-st.

Open to all classes of persons, daily, from 9 A. M. to 2 P. M., and on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY EVENINGS, from 5 to 8 o'clock.

Interest allowed at the rate of 6 per cent. on sums of $500 and under.

JACOB A. WESTERVELT, President.
P. W. ENGS, First Vice-President.
CHAS. MILES, Second Vice-President.
ISAAC T. SMITH, Secretary.

IRVING SAVINGS INSTITUTION—No. 96 Warren-st.—DIVIDEND.—This Institution has declared a SEMI-ANNUAL DIVIDEND at the rate of SIX PER CENT. on all sums entitled thereto for the last three and six months, payable on and after the 21st inst. All interest not called for will draw interest as principal. Open daily from 10 to 3, and 6 to 7 P. M.

WALTER W. CONCKLIN, President.
WM. M. PULLIS, } Vice Presidents.
M. D. VAN PELT, }
VANDERBILT L. BURTON, Secretary.

CONTINENTAL BANK.—NEW-YORK, Jan. 12, 1857.—The annual election for members of this Bank, will be held at the Banking Rooms No 12 Wall-st., on MONDAY, the 4th of February next. The polls will be open from 12 o'clock M. to 1 P. M.

W. T. HOOKER, Cashier.

THE PARK BANK.—Subscribers to the capital stock of this Bank will call at the City Bank, No. 52 Wall-st., on Tuesday or Wednesday, Feb. 3 and 4, and sign the articles of association, at which time and place the books of subscription will be ready.

IRVING BANK.—New-York, Jan. 19, 1857.—The Annual election for Directors of this Bank, and for three Inspectors of the next election, will be held at the Bank on Monday, Feb. 4. The polls will be open from 1 to 3 o'clock P. M. DAN'L. V. H. BERTHOLF, Cashier.

IRON, HARDWARE, &c.

NAPANOCH SALISBURY HAMMERED IRON—Made from Salisbury cold blast pig, and refoned with charcoal. This iron is warranted of extraordinary strength and quality, and is unsurpassed by any other iron made. Orders received for shafts, gun-ax

ADDITION SALES.

ALBERT H. NICOLAY, Auctioneer.

ADMINISTRATRIX' SALE—Will sell, THIS EVENING, at 7½ o'clock, at the Merchants' Exchange, the following Bank and Rail Road Stocks:—$1,000 Bank of Commerce; $1,000 Bank of America; $1,000 Bank of Commerce; $1,000 Bank of America; $1,000 Bank of Commerce; $1,000 Bank of America; $

New-York Daily Times

[illegible] DECISIVE GRAVE CASES IN COURT UNDRAWN.

[illegible] Before the United States Commissioner—The Claim of Freedom—Decision reserved.

[illegible] Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 31.

[illegible] Frank, of Covington, and Col. Chambers, [illegible] appeared for the claimants, Mr. Marshall [illegible] Messrs. Joliffe & Gitchell appeared for the defendants.

[illegible] two men, Simon Garner and Robert Garner, [illegible] Margaret Garner, wife of Simon, [illegible] Marshall. Margaret Garner, [illegible] when the Coroner's Jury on Tuesday evening [illegible] a verdict of murder, with her three remaining children, are claimed by Mr. Gaines.

On the opening of the Court, Mr. Joliffe applied [illegible] that the defence might have [illegible] witnesses. By those witnesses he [illegible] to prove that the woman Mary Garner, [illegible] left her home in this city with the [illegible] and command of her alleged [illegible] the purpose of marketing, etc.; that [illegible] Robert Garner, three years ago, [illegible] employed for four days driving [illegible] the evidence might not [illegible] to prove similar facts of [illegible] Mr. Gaines asked the Court for [illegible] to obtain witnesses in proof of these facts.

Col. Chambers denied that any right of freedom [illegible] as a slave by his owner bringing him over [illegible] Ohio, when the slave voluntarily returned.

Mr. Joliffe contended that a slave brought to the [illegible] by his owner, at the request of the [illegible] became free, and that freedom no after act [illegible]

The affidavit of Margaret Garner was then read; [illegible] says that John Gaines, who claims her as his [illegible] brought her when she was a small girl to [illegible] to nurse his daughter, and that she remained [illegible] until the evening. She expects to [illegible] this fact by Mr. Gaines, now in Oregon, and [illegible] evidence until his evidence can be obtained. She also deposes that her children, William, [illegible] and Sella, were born after her having been [illegible] into Ohio.

In the case of Mary Garner, the Commissioner [illegible] should be carefully considered, [illegible] it was not an ordinary one. The question involved [illegible] liberty of dollars and cents, but of liberty. [illegible] more than as being in testimony as stated [illegible] The points raised in the affidavits and the [illegible] of the statements there raised, he was not [illegible] called upon now to declare, but with respect [illegible] requested, precedent, as well as his own [illegible] would govern him; the Court would do [illegible] just and right.

The point raised by the defence, on behalf of Mary [illegible] was not important one, and the Court would [illegible] relation to the other cases, it was a [illegible] that ought to be fully and fairly investigated. The Court adjourned until 6 o'clock this [illegible] the prisoners in the meantime being remanded into the custody of the United States Marshal.

On motion of the case at the adjournment was [illegible] Mr. Joliffe, the counsel for the defence, claimed [illegible] slave passing into the Free State of Ohio, [illegible] the consent of his or her owner, or his agent, [illegible] individual is who hires a slave, becomes free by the act. The freedom of an individual once [illegible] cannot be lost, except in case of punishment [illegible]

The principle of the perpetuity of freedom is [illegible] by customs, the spirit of our laws, the [illegible] of civilized nations, and the Constitution of [illegible] which instrument declares that no involuntary servitude, except for crime, shall exist within the borders of Ohio. On this ground Mr. Joliffe contends that Mary Garner, Robert Garner, and Margaret Garner, are all free persons, and were so when arrested by the U. S. Marshal.

In opposition to this, Col. Chambers laid down the law as follows: A slave, which has acquired by entering with his owner's knowledge and consent, a Free State, they were forfeited when he voluntarily returned to Slavery. This position the counsel for the claimants did not argue.

Considerable dissatisfaction was expressed outside of the Court by several colored persons, both male and female, because an officer stationed at the door refused to permit any of them to enter. At the adjournment of Court a considerable police force was ready to escort the fugitives to jail, for [illegible] was a crowd waiting at the door. A considerable crowd collected outside, and when the officers attempted to clear a road to the vehicle, considerable excitement was shown. Some scuffling and hooting took place, and one or two parties were taken to the Hammond-street Station-house by the officers. Yours truly, [illegible] colored woman [illegible] the most humane resistance [illegible] When a road was cleared to the [illegible] the fugitives were conducted inside, the police mounted the stage and the top, and a number [illegible] it; then the prisoners were taken off. It is evident that much irritable feeling exists, but the disposition evinced by Commissioner Pendery, to act fairly toward all parties, and to view the question in a kindly light toward the fugitives and their friends, while he faithfully discharges the sworn duties of his office, will doubtless assist in allaying agitation.

NEW-YORK CITY.

[Advertisement.]

PONSOR PERRIGO PLASTER.

[redacted]

[illegible] Jan. 31, 1856, in the Chair.

[illegible] Mr. Ward, of Ohio, presented the credentials of Mr. Lewis D. Campbell, elected Senator from Ohio, in place of Mr. Pugh, resigned.

[illegible] Mr. Fitzpatrick, of Alabama, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported back the bill for the relief of the heirs of Jean Pierre Chouteau, with a recommendation that it do not pass.

[illegible] Mr. Bayard, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, reported back the bill for the relief of Sarah Ann Ingraham, with a recommendation that it do not pass.

[illegible] Mr. Pratt, from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, reported back the bill for the completion of the Washington Monument